

Family Support Service

Aiming Higher offers a bespoke service supporting families with a disabled child. We have a range of Family Support Workers who work with the family to deliver individualized holistic support. Support can range from managing behaviour, issues with schools, EHCP processes, routines, housing, finances and general wellbeing.

Support can be provided through home visits, meeting in the community or at the Aiming Higher Centre.

- ♦ Family Support Workers– supports the family on a one to one basis for a minimum of 3 months. Areas of support cover signposting where required, communication issues with education services, support with completing forms, slight emotional support, child behaviour issues and various other current issues.
